5. Curriculum Enrichment

5.1 Outcome Based Education

Outcome Based Education is a transformation of “teacher centric” to “student centric”. OBE focusses on what students can actually do after they are taught and expect all learners to achieve particular level of knowledge and abilities. OBE is a revolution from memorizing facts to application in a situation.

Requisites of LOCF Framework based on OBE

- Learning process need to be clearly identified
- Students’ progress is based on the demonstrated achievement
- Multiple instructional and assessment strategies need to be available in order to meet the demands and needs of the student
- Adequate time and assistance need to be provided to make the student realize full potential.

Benefits of LOCF Framework based on OBE

- More directed and coherent curriculum structure
- Industry relevant Graduates
- Continuous Quality Improvement as an inevitable process Therefore, OBE can be achieved through the learning outcomes.

Regulations in drafting OBE in Curriculum

Stage 1 Stakeholder and Benchmarking Report

Once the need and market analysis of the programme has been reported through adequate stakeholder analysis, the next step is to determine the Programme Educational Objectives.

Stage 2 Programme Educational Objectives

The Programme Educational Objectives should be determined based on the mission and vision statement of the Institution. There can be 3-5 Programme Educational Objectives for a Programme. Broad statements that describe the student’s career and professional accomplishments within 5 years upon graduation. These are the statements that describe what the students are expected to know or be able to do by the time they complete an academic degree-qualification. The programme educational objectives are different from the students' learning outcomes in four ways, 1.Degree of specificity 2. Role of constituents Purpose of assessment 4. Cycles of data collection. Once the Programme Educational Objectives should be mapped against the mission and vision of the Institution.

Stage 3 Programme Learning Outcomes

The programme learning outcomes should be determined based on the graduate attributes or the skills. These Programme Learning Outcomes should be mapped against the Programme Educational Objectives and the blooms taxonomy of verbs. The abilities (Cognitive, Psychomotor and Affective) that a student should be able to demonstrate at the time of graduation. Therefore, Programme learning outcomes are a description of knowledge, competencies, and values a student display at the time of completion of graduation.

The Three Domains of Learning

The Three domains of learning are 1.Cognitive (thinking from the head) 2.Affective domain (executing from heart) 3.Psychomotor (the movements of hands and legs)

- a. Cognitive: This is a mental process involved in thinking, gaining knowledge and comprehension. There are six categories and levels under Cognitive domain.
 - C1-Remembering
 - C2-Understanding
 - C3-Appling
 - C4-Analysing
 - C5-Evaluating
 - C6- Creating
- b. The affective domain includes the manner in which we deal things emotionally, such as feelings, enthusiasm, motivation, values, appreciation, attitudes etc., There are five levels of learning under this domain

Stage 4 Course Learning Outcomes

Depending upon the graduate attributes and the mapping of Programme Learning Outcomes, the Course Learning Outcomes will be framed. The Course Learning outcome should definitely follow the Blooms Taxonomy of verbs. Specific statements of what the students are expected to achieve at the end of the course. These statements are central to course curriculum which is measurable, observable and clearly indicates what a student should know and be able to do as a result of learning. The course learning outcome should satisfy the following condition.

- Each course will address three to four CLO statements
- Should be mapped to the learning domains of Blooms or other Taxonomy of verbs
- There should be one to one mapping with the CLO and PLO statement. i.e one CLO should be mapped with one PLO
- Expressed in terms of measurable and achievable
- There should be an action Verb + Standard or Verb + Condition or Verb + Standard+ Condition.
- Multiple PLO, CLO and taxonomy of verbs should not be reflected in a singleCLO statement.

Stage 5 Constructive Alignment of teaching methodologies and Assessment

There should be constructive alignment of teaching methodologies and assessment procedure. The assessment should be evaluated through Rubrics and appropriate marking scheme should be provided.

Stage 6 Curriculum Documentation

After the fixation of students learning time and the credit fixation. The final curriculum should be documented and approved by the Academic council.

Stage 7 Implementation with evidences

The Curriculum document should be appropriately documented and relevant evidences on the methodology of learning and assessment procedures need to be recorded. Relevant evidences pertaining to Lesson Plan, Course plan, Test Blue print, Assessment Rubrics and evaluation, should be classified in accordance with the Level of Blooms.

Stage 8 Evaluation

The attainment of the students collectively for a module as well as individual attainment should be recorded and presented through a report. This report should be presented in the Annual Programme Monitoring Report as well as in Module Monitoring Report. This will provide an insight to the institution in closing the gap in the curriculum. The gaps will be informed to the curriculum review committee and the process will continue further.

6. Teaching and Learning

Technology has become synonymous with education and Sri Krishna Arts and Science College has been a pioneer in integrating digital materials with its courses and programmes decades ago. The Institution fosters communications amongst students and faculty via a number of tools, provides a platform to conduct assessments and surveys, and allows the faculty to track the overall growth of its learners. All the classrooms of the College are smart classrooms with Active smart boards and LCD projectors and the members of the faculty use digital platforms to handle their classes.

Google Classroom

Google classroom is a free blended learning platform to streamline assignments, conduct test and to foster communication. This platform is utilised by the faculty to effectively educate and engage the students by seamlessly integrating Google's most popular with efficient teaching methodologies. The faculty post materials such as YouTube videos, Google Forms, PowerPoint presentations and animated videos in this portal. The blended method whereby Offline as well as Onlinemode through Google Classroom is used to assign and collect Assignments and otherforms Assessments from students. Security is of utmost necessity and students as well as faculty can use the Classroom only through their official mail ID. This ensures maximum safety and security. SKASC is moving in leaps and bounds with regard to technology and learning by being the first among major higher educational institutions to introduce and integrate advanced technology in student-centric arenas.

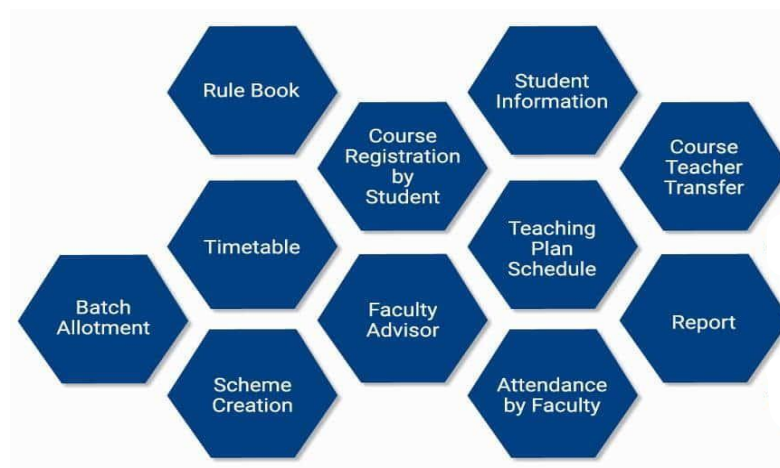

MyKlassroom

MyKlassroom is a powerful blend of social networking and E- learning, which provides an onlinecollaborative platform for the benefit of both students and teachers. MyKlassroom is the future of the next generation classroom providing structured access to information, a forum for moderating. A round the clock access to classroom and study material anywhere and anytime makes this one of the most effective and accessible modes of learning. Test marks and attendance is posted in the platform making it an inevitable part of both teaching and practical purposes. Maximum postings by students and faculty garner maximum points which is recognized and appreciated by the management. Faculty profile, detailed syllabus and mapping of components is maintained in MyKlassroom making it a specialized online classroom as well as repository of data.

Choice Based Credit System

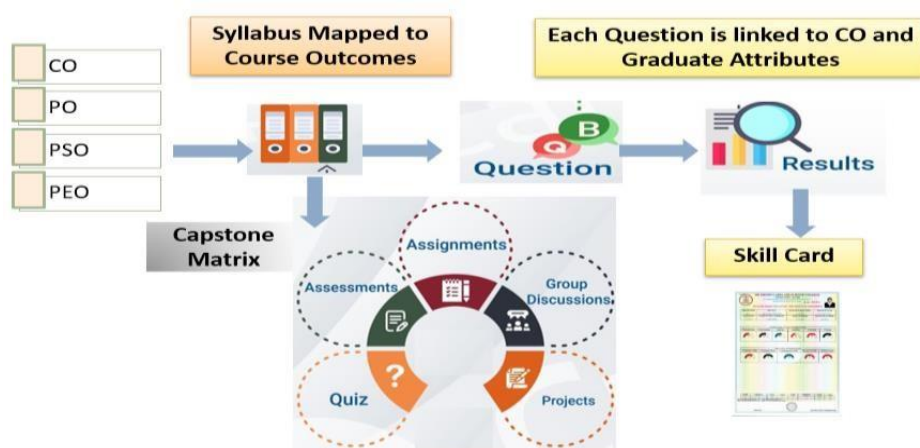

CBCS allows students to choose inter-disciplinary, intra-disciplinary courses, skill-oriented papers even from other disciplines according to their learning needs, interests and aptitude and more flexibility for students. Sri Krishna Arts and Science College follows CBCS pattern meticulously, offering various courses to the students such as Specific Elective Courses, Discipline Specific Courses and Value added courses.

Evaluation

SKASC follows the continuous system of evaluation with the End Semester exam culminating the evaluation process for that particular semester. Evaluation is a constant and continuous process in Education and it is a challenging phase in this pandemic. The teaching and learning have under gone a lot of changes from the syllabito content delivery. The lesson plan for online classes has modified from the regular lesson plan hence every step and aspect of evaluation also customized.

The continuous system of evaluation along with the other assessment techniques like presentations, poster presentations, quiz, Group Assignment, portfolios and many others encourage the students to display an all round development not only in their test but also co-curricular activities. Self learning focusing on study and research is encouraged and it gives the students an option to explore other avenues of their multi-faceted personalities.

9. Research

The research cell seeks to improve academic and student research capacities. As it strives to acquire its vision and goal, the SKASC Research Cell makes a concerted effort to integrate its R&D efforts with technical competency and industry best practices. Faculty and student-led research focuses on the developing disciplines of science, business, and the arts. Notable research activities undertaken at SKASC give an opportunity to conduct ground-breaking research that strives to address real-world challenges. The institution has formed alliances with a number of non-governmental organizations and industrial sectors, and we anticipate more of these types of collaborations in the future. Faculty members are provided seed money, concession in research fee, financial aid for publication, fund for participating in conferences, etc.,

SKASC Research Scholars receive rigorous instruction in research methods before beginning their coordinated dissertations and seminar papers. M.Phil. and Ph.D. students can attend renowned research training courses. Currently, 16 students are seeking M.Phil. degrees, while 112 are pursuing Ph.D. degrees. Scholars and faculty members work together on both small and large-scale research projects. Dr. M. Manikandan is the coordinator of the SKASC Research Cell.

In addition to M.Phil. and Ph.D. researchers who work persistently to attain their objectives, postgraduate and undergraduate students are encouraged to participate in research activities. Individual and group projects have been made required for graduation, which firmly instils a research culture in young minds. Undergraduate students are introduced to capstone projects as part of the programme, in which they seek product creation and patenting.

SKASC has 68 guides recognized by Bharathiar University to supervise students towards their research degree. As we receive more applications for research degrees, we have a plan to increase the number of sanctioned strengths across various six disciplines, i.e., English, Commerce, Computer Science, Management Science, Electronics and Communication Systems, and Bioscience through which another 122 seats may be added. In addition to that, the department of Psychology will be upgraded to a research department after the due inspection by the committee set up by Bharathiar University.

Dr. M. Manikandan, Dean & Head, Department of Bioscience has served as “INSA Visiting Scientist” at Repository of Tomato Genomics Resources (RTGR), Department of Plant Sciences, School of Life Sciences, University of Hyderabad offered by the Indian National Science Academy (INSA), Department of Science and Technology (DST), Government of India from 10th July 2023 to 11th September 2023. The Visiting Scientist fellowship, conferred by DST-INSA, holds immense prestige within the scientific community. During his visit, he has worked on “Abiotic stress molecular response in Millet” and had a chance to experience the cutting-edge technologies in Plant molecular biology.

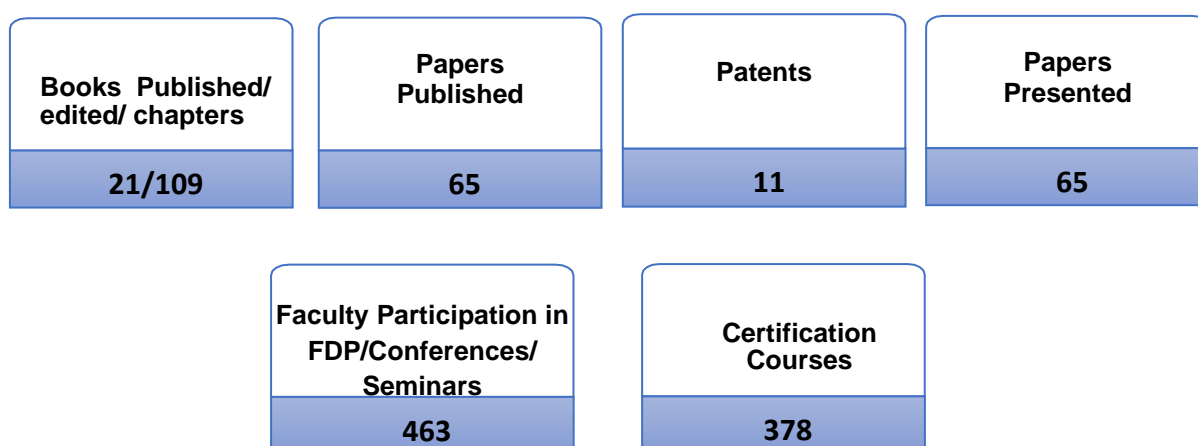

Faculty members of various departments have received support from funding agencies for research, seminar presentations, and faculty development initiatives. The following is a comprehensive list of grant details

10. Progression

Every sector must evolve to become more effective, and this happens most frequently in education. Both faculty members and students at our institution are always motivated to learn more about the topic that is relevant to their line of study and to stay in tune with current events by engaging in a variety of activities. The knowledge and abilities of the staff and students play a crucial role in the institution's development, which is a continuous and consistent process. To facilitate that, the management provides seed money in the budget to promote research activities in our campus. A variety of conferences and seminars organised by various institutions and corporate sectors were attended by faculty members and students with the financial aid provided by our management.

The faculty members at SKASC have contributed extensively towards the academic and research activities of the institution. 21 Books, 109 book chapters 11 patents and several research articles have been published by the faculty members. Certification courses offered by NPTEL, Coursera and other platforms have been completed during this period. Further, faculty members have served as resource person for seminar, conferences and workshops organized by other institutions. Few members have acted as external experts and board members. A number of programs have been organized by the faculty members in collaboration with various Government and Non-Government organizations, educational institutions and industries. The staff members have actively participated in faculty development programs, hands-on training and workshops organized by SKASC as well as other institutions.

19.1 Avila University, USA

Sri Krishna Arts and Science College (SKASC) and Avila University in Kansas City Missouri, USA are set to sign a Memorandum of Understanding (MOU) that will provide several benefits to students and faculty at both institutions. The MOU will cover a range of initiatives, including the 2+1 and 2+2 twinning programmes, student and faculty exchanges, dual degree programmes, summer visit, and joint academic conferences. Under the 2+1 and 2+2 degree programmes, students at SKASC can transfer to Avila University to complete their degree programmes, with credits earned at SKASC being recognized by Avila. The student and faculty exchange program will allow students and faculty members from both institutions to visit each other's campuses, attend lectures, and collaborate on research projects. This will facilitate cross-cultural learning, help develop international networks, and promote academic excellence.

20.Best Practices

SKASC Beats-Daily Newsletter

Communication techniques have extended far beyond the modes of written, spoken and printed forms. The college initiated the practice of documenting all the events happening on campus into a daily newsletter entitled 'SKASC Beats' from March 11, 2019 considering the young spirit of the Techno-Driven students. It publishes the activities and events that occurred in the college with the intention of promoting the growth of the students, faculty, and the college for the greater good and a better cause.

Bizz Shorts – Business Daily

Bizz Shorts - Business Daily (powered by Business Club) is a daily business news bulletin created by the Department of Management Science. This initiative is aimed at providing a daily dose of business news to students, staff, and faculty members of the Institution. Bizz Shorts is a unique concept to disseminate current business stories of the day in a concise and easy-to-digest form. The bulletin is designed to be read in just a few minutes, making it perfect for busy students and professionals who want to stay up-to-date on the latest business news without spending too much time reading long articles. The initiative is powered by a student-led Business Club to promote entrepreneurship and innovation among students. Business Club also provides various opportunities for students to develop their skills and network with professionals in the industry. Overall, Bizz Shorts - Business Daily is a testament to the Department of Management Science's commitment to providing students with the tools and resources they need to succeed in the business world.

Snap Talk

The purpose of education is to create leaders for the universe. Snap Talk is a practice initiated by SKASC in which a student has to talk for three minutes on a subject of his choice. It provides the students with a comfortable platform to identify their leadership qualities. Sri Krishna Arts and Science College follows this strategy to develop the communication skills of the students.

Celebrations of Commemorative Days

SKASC observes commemorative days to remember and educate students about significant historical events and to honour great people. The college believes celebrating commemorative days is an integral part of learning to build strong cultural beliefs in every student. The College makes tremendous efforts to celebrate national and international days, events, and festivals throughout the year. SKASC not only celebrates these commemorative days but also posts them on social media and spreads awareness to other people in society as well. Faculty members are encouraged to put up commemorative day flyers in their status to disseminate the significance of days or events.

Flag Hoisting

SKASC has the tradition of hoisting the National flag every Wednesday by the NCC Cadets. The institution has begun the practice of hoisting the flag according to the seniority. Deans, Heads and Senior Faculty of various departments take their turns to hoist the flag and pay homage to the motherland.

Birthday Wishes

SKASC implemented the practice of wishing faculty on the day of their birthday as a gesture to acknowledge and appreciate their service to the institution. Celebrating a person's birthday is important because it shows that one is thinking of and valuing them through this simple gesture. Wishing the faculty a happy birthday is also a way to create a positive experience between the institution and them. It also helps the faculty build stronger relationships in a positive environment.

Research Forum

Research enables an institution and its faculty to be updated with the recent developments in their chosen field. With regard to this SKASC has begun a Research Forum where research scholars can present their work with confidence. The Research Forum is meant to convey an overview of research, highlighting contemporary academic debates and perspectives in the field. The first meeting of the Research Forum was conducted on 26.09.2022. Research Scholars and other members shared and expressed their perspectives on various research approaches.
