Any other matter:

In case of any minor discrepancy in syllabi/ regulations or correction in syllabi for all UG / PG programmes for the academic year 2022-2023 recommended by the chairman of BOS, the chairman of Academic Council can make such amendments subject to the approval in the subsequent Academic Council meetings.

General Suggestions:

- Dr. S. Ganesan, Head - Education Initiatives, Logistics Sector Skill Council, appreciated the new syllabi which are mapped with current trends. He pointed out the Capstone Project and instructed that "Capstone" is the name of a brand and suggested to change its name. He also added to conduct remedial classes for the not permitted students in the subsequent semester. He also suggested having Dual degree programs, as it is one of the NEP components. He insisted on benchmarking the syllabus, credits, subjects with top universities or institutions. In addition to this, he suggested conducting online courses or regular courses contract with some other organizations like Logistics Skill Council Sector.

- Dr. Rupa Gunaseelan observed that pedagogy is the only way to improve the skill development programme. She had put forth a question on the number of innovative pedagogy introduced. She also added that the patents can be taken up for commercializing and valuable sustainability. The patents can be changed into a start-up company for students. She suggested changing a course name to "Personal Finance" rather than calling it as "Individual Finance' in Management Board. Asked to represent percentage of attendance graphically, the outcome shall be an indication for the students. She appreciated the members that the institution is futuristic as it focuses on NEP and SEP. Also she advised to provide the students with the credit options, so that it may attract students.

- Dr. K. Sangeetha, University Representative appreciated the way BOS is being organized in SKASC. She advocated that the students can be sorted out as per their interests and talents and not per their marks. She added that the contents of the syllabus have sustainability and questioned about the change of terms in the Bioscience Board and also the Community Development Program.

- Mr. Mahesh Kumar proposed having a core-relation between research/academic team with the corporate. Also he suggested that on average 25% of revisions can be carried out in BOS. He also questioned on the level of openness do the faculty members possess to accept the changes in the syllabus. He also advocated that law becomes important for the programmes like CDF and CSHM, so that it is offered to the students as a Value-Added Course.

- Dr. M. Kunthavi Devi, Gynecologist, Sree Abirami Hospitals, appreciated the change which are made in the new curriculum structure.
